About Titlemold

TitleMold creates names using two random words within the English dictionary. The purpose is rather insignificant, but to serve as a tool for those who want a unique or creative title for something. This simulator would be especially helpful to those who want to create a fun or out-of-the-ordinary username. For example, this website would target gamers who like to show off their titles while playing amongst other. It would also target aspiring musicians who want to discover an "indie" or "hip" name for their band. Titlemold is a free online application that merely exists only for entertainment purposes.
